Looking at the News with Col. Hugh Clark

WE gather from an article in a dignified family journal that the administration of justice in some cities is not what it should be. It appears that the bulls engage stool pigeons to get evidence against blind pigs. Such procedure is bound to cause uneasiness in the menagerie of the underworld.

Mae West declares that when she marries it will not be to a good looking man. She prefers a homely looking man. The homely looking men are already married, but that shouldn't make any difference to a screen actress.

Everybody one meets says times are getting better. Therefore times are getting better.

A man's house is his castle. All except the front door which belongs to agents and pedlars.

Some people use good judgment only when they use that of some one else.

Some English newspapers denounce as robbery Roosevelt's removal of the gold clause in contracts. It will hurt foreign investors in American securities but surely it is on the whole a disadvantage rather than an advantage to the United States which has loaned billions of dollars abroad.

"Is recovery coming too soon?" enquires a financial editor. We read a short time ago that the manufacturer of drugs and kindred preparations had managed to keep prices up to the point attained during the war.

Congress and Senate wax indignant at what J. P. Morgan & Company did as disclosed by the Pecora investigation which showed that they were doing what most people knew they were doing.

They launch a reform movement and sweep the city, but they soon tire of being good. These infrequent movements are valuable no doubt but the effects are only transient. Civic virtue has not the staying power of civic vice.

A hotel dish-washer won $45,000 in the Derby Sweepstakes and immediately threw up his job. There are many men keeping bachelor's hall who do not blame him in the least.

The Letter That Never—J. P. Morgan & Co. New York.

Dear Sirs:—I am in receipt of your letter offering me five hundred shares of Standard Brands at $20 a share, now selling at $37 on the market. In reply I beg to respectfully decline the offer. Yours very truly,

GREAT BRITAIN and the United States promise to go back to the gold standard when conditions warrant, which recalls a story we heard William Jennings Bryan tell of a doctor who had a child patient to whom he was administering bitter medicine which was doing no good. The child grew weaker and weaker until the doctor at last told the nurse to discontinue the medicine and give milk instead, as the case was hopeless. Calling a few days later, expecting to sign a death certificate, he found his patient wonderfully improved, so he told the nurse to continue the milk treatment for a week or two by which time he expected the child would be strong enough to take more medicine.

It was while under the old treatment that the world took sick. The treatment may not have caused or aggravated the illness but certainly it did not prevent it. It was when Britain gave up the treatment that she began to show signs of improvement. Noting this, the United States did the same with similar results. Yet the leading doctors in both countries intend when their patients have sufficiently recovered to go back to the gold cure.

A fine sample of wheat growth was brought to this office on Saturday. The sample was from the fields of Dan Jantzie and measured fourteen inches in height from seed sown during the first week of April.

Community Memorial Service Attracts Large Congregation

Clover Leaf Rebekahs and Samaritan Oddfellows Direct Annual Rites

Sunday was a day of remembrance for Vulcan; the day of the annual community memorial service directed by the Samaritan Lodge, I.O.O.F. and the Clover Leaf Rebekah lodge.

At 2:15 o'clock the members of both lodges paraded from the Oddfellows' hall to the Vulcan Theatre, where services were held. The lodge group wore their badges and paraded to music played by the Citizens' band. E. G. McPherson, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, asked the congregation to bow their heads during one minute of silent meditation at 2:30 o'clock. The services then opened with a solo by Miss Agnes Spence, "Silently the Shades of Night."

Led by the band two hymns "Abide With Me" and "Nearer, My God, To Thee" were sung by the entire group that filled the theatre.

A prayer by Rev. J. M. Pritchard of the Knox United Church, Lethbridge, was followed by a duet selection by Misses Mayme Lebeau and Beulah Walker.

Addresses were delivered by Rev. Father Cunningham and Rev. Pritchard. The former spoke on the benefits derived from a service of this type and the latter on the act of remembering. Between the addresses was a sextette selection "The Crusaders" by W. D. Allan, W. Walker, J. T. Willard, C. Ottewill, W. E. Butchart, and J. Conn were the members of the group.

A solo by Mrs. R. E. Dodds and the benediction by Rev. V. E. Smith completed the services in the theatre. Practically the group en masse proceeded to the Vulcan burial park where the ceremonies were performed by the lodges. Prayer by the Chaplain of the Rebekahs, Mrs. E. Parsons, and decoration address by the Samaritan Lodge, Peter Bowie, preceded the forming of the cross by the members while the band played "Dead March in Saul." Taps, decoration of the graves, "Nearer, My God, To Thee," played by the band, and a prayer by the Chaplain of Rebekahs closed the ceremonies.

The service and ceremonies were in inspiring and everything was executed in perfect manner.

Ladies' Softball Teams Have Active Game

The Little Bow softball team played the Vulcan ladies' team, on Monday evening and the exhibition proved an exciting contest. The Vulcan ladies took the short end of a fourteen-thirteen score, and the score is an indication of the closely contested game. A fair sized crowd of fans watched the game. The players were Vulcan—Mrs. G. McAllister, Mrs. D. Beuhler, Misses McDonald, Lyons, Allan, Bond Adams, Reynolds and Ulrich. Little Bow—Misses M. Shaw, Eue and Lily Hunerbuhr, J. Irwin, Doris and Viola Brown, J. Croucher, A. Shire, M. Brown, and Mrs. Tom Shaw. Scorekeepers and umpires were Tom Shaw and R. Bowie. The Vulcan team is anticipating an early return game.

On Friday, June 16, the Union Jack sports' ground was the scene of an interesting and exciting softball game between Union Jack and Mossleigh girls in which Union Jack won. Much ability as players was displayed by both teams. The nine inning game was enjoyed by the spectators from the surrounding districts.

Union Jack—Florence McBride, c; Marjorie Irving, p; Isabelle McBride 1b; Hazel Fisher, 2b; Marion Swanson 3b; Roberta Mitchell, ss; Alberta Burgess, rf; Doris Irving, cf; Chole Marshall, lf.

An Added Feature

A recently added feature to the Dominion Day celebration sponsored by the Vulcan "Bills" on July 1st will be a game of softball played between the local ladies' team and a team of Calgary ladies. This added to the already packed day of sport will make the occasion still more enjoyable.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, during the week the trains due from Lethbridge at 8:10 were late some two hours and thirty minutes. This was due to the floods in British Columbia, delaying the west train from that province which makes connections at Lethbridge with the local train.

The tea and home cooking sale held at the Red and White store on Saturday last by the Redlandview W.I. was a success and members of the organization wish to thank Mr. B. Lockhart for the use of his store and for donations of tea and sugar. Thanks are also extended to those who kindly loaned the stove, tables and other articles used.

The First Vulcan Troop under Scoutmaster Conn will go to district camp at Millerville on July 15 and remain for eight days. The troop this year has not as yet sufficient tents to make the trip and would greatly appreciate the loan of two or three tents for this purpose. If you have one, notify Scoutmaster Conn or E. K. Picken. The Cub Pack will camp for two days, July and 8 at the "101" ranch.

On Saturday of last week a short distance east of town on the highway a car driven by A. C. Rows of Taber, with Mrs. Bowes, as a passenger, suddenly left the road and crashed into a telephone pole greatly damaging the car. Both escaped serious injuries, wounds, and shock were the chief result. They were able to continue their journey to Calgary by train on Sunday, after receiving the doctor's attention. The car was towed to Brown's Garage, where it will get the necessary repairs before being picked up when Mr. and Mrs. Bowes make their homeward journey. The car hit the pole with a terrific impact as it was broken clean near the ground.

Pete Beardsley Funeral

A funeral service for the late Pete Beardsley, whose demise was recorded in the columns of this paper last week, was held in the United Church on Friday. All stores and places of business were closed during the services, in tribute of respect to one who was high in the esteem of the community and the church was filled to capacity.

Rev. J. N. Brunton conducted the ceremony and gave eulogy to the man who will be greatly missed. During the service the senior choir rendered vocal music. Russel Carruthers, Harry Dorrington, Bud Flood, George Pittman, Art Vaughn and Chet Wallace acted in the capacity of pallbearers.

The remains were taken to New Boston, Ill., for burial.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Beardsley wishes to express sincere thanks for sympathy extended by Vulcan friends in her sad bereavement.

The Blairmore Enterprise and Coleman Journal have united in a daily to serve the two towns and Hillcrest, Bellevue, Natal, Frank, Michel, Crows Nest and Corbin.

WEDNESDAY NEXT WEEK

The Advocate will be published next week on Wednesday and advertisers are asked to have their copy at the office by Tuesday noon. Deadline for news copy is Monday evening. Will correspondents and contributors please note the change. Your co-operation will be appreciated.

DEDICATION SERVICE ANNIVERSARY

Church Dedicated Five Years Ago; Congregation Established Seven

C. H. Phillips, Lethbridge; R. J. Westaway, Calgary, and James Morgan were the ministers during the morning, afternoon and evening services at the local Church of Christ. The occasion was the fifth anniversary of the church dedication. Topics for the three services were "Dedication of Service," "Dedication of Self" and "Dedication of Substance."

During the afternoon the roll was called and many interesting letters were read from members of the church who could not be present.

Special music directed by Miss Beulah Walker included choir items, solos, duets and quartettes.

Hot dinner and supper meals were served in the basement, some 185 persons partaking.

The occasion brought forward the beginning of the congregation of the Vulcan Church of Christ, and that it came through the combined efforts of the United Christian Missionary Society, the Alberta Christian Missionary Society and the All-Canadian Committee. In the beginning evangelistic meetings were held in the skating arena by J. H. Wells and M. B. Ryan, opening on July 1, 1926. The first Sunday meeting was held on July 4, 1926, with J. W. Jenkins of Aldersyde, as pastor. The first baptismal service was held at the Little Bow on July 18th. Preliminary organization was made by J. H. Wells on July 25, and from that time until December 3 services were held in the I.O.O.F. hall. In November 1926 a motion was made for the erection of a church and Mr. and Mrs. J. Deans were authorized to make a canvas for funds. Lots were bought at the present location and W. E. Walker, Elmer Graham and J. H. Deans, were appointed trustees of the property. On January 2, 1927 the church was incorporated under the laws of the province, known as the Central Church of Christ. The church was built by volunteers and dedication services were held on the 17th of June, 1928.

Pastors who have made permanent stay in Vulcan were O. P. Burris, Eugene, Ore.; Geo. A. Ross, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Isaacson and Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan. During the absence of permanent ministers, J. H. Deans, J. W. Jenkins and others conducted the services. Two evangelistic meetings have been held since the dedication.

One hundred and ninety-four members by statement or obedience, is the record of the Church of Christ during seven years.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

The Masonic Order will hold their annual parade to the United Church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when special music will be rendered by the senior choir assisted by the orchestra. At this service the infant son of the Worshipful Master of the lodge will be baptized.

The evening service will take the form of a young people's rally when Mr. Russell Collier, ex-president of the Young People's Union of Southern Alberta, will preside and the members of the three groups of C.G.I. T. girls will lead in the service of praise assisted by the McPherson sister trio.

Rev. Mr. Brunton intends leaving Vulcan about the last of August and this will possibly be the last time he will have an opportunity of addressing the young-people of the community.

LOCAL ITEMS

John Dewie was a Vulcan visitor on Friday last renewing acquaintances.

Miss Barbara and Mr. Philip Baston were the guests of Billy Wright over the week end.

The Clover Leaf Rebekah lodge will serve hot supper in the basement of the Oddfellows' hall on Saturday, July 1st, from 5 till 7 o'clock p.m. Adults 35c and children 20c.

From Milo notes in the Bow Valley Resources: "Mrs. LeBow of Vulcan and Mrs. Price of Calgary were visitors at the home of Mrs. A. Ferngren this week."

Messrs. B. P. Alley, assistant general manager; J. Corbett, superintendent and A. C. Turner of Calgary, all of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, were visitors in Vulcan last week.

The fishing season started on June 15, but to date we have heard no fish stories from the Vulcan fishermen. Many have tried their luck, journeying to the Willow Creek, west of Nan ton over the week end, and many good catches of trout were reported.

One morning this week a business on the main street of Vulcan, that heretofore never displayed such a sign, hung out a shingle that said: "Fish for Sale." The sign amazed the early morning citizens, many enquiring "Who are the fish?" It's all a mystery.

Members of Vulcan Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 74, will hold their annual church parade on Sunday next, June 25. The parade will be made from the lodge rooms to the United Church where a special Masonic service will be delivered by Rev. J. N. Brunton at 11 o'clock a.m. Visiting Masons are welcome.

Responding to the shrill calling of the fire siren on Friday morning, around nine o'clock, the firemen with fire-fighting apparatus turned out to a fire in the Calgary Power Company storage shed, directly across the road from the Wegh property. The building of corrugated iron construction, contained line wires, transformer oil and other equipment which, through some manner unknown, had caught on fire. The fire was subdued, but not before considerable damage had been suffered by the stores. This is the third call of the brigade within two months.

The Little Bow swimming hole has been a rendezvous for those wishing to escape the glaring heat that sometimes registered 95 degrees in the shade during the past few weeks. The Vulcan Elks, who last year enlarged the pool, and built equipment for the convenience of all in the district, are enlarging on the improvements made and all buildings will receive a coat of paint for protection from the weather. To make the spot one of a resort nature, two Vulcanites, W. Brown and D. Skinner, have erected a booth or the dispensing of ice cream cold drinks and so on.

Fight Pictures Shown

Manager Robson of the Vulcan Theatre gave the patrons to that entertainment house a special "scoop" feature in addition to the regular picture program on Tuesday evening. These were the fight films of the world's heavyweight bout between Max Schmelling and Max Baer at the Yankee Stadium, in New York. The fistie contest was held on June 8th and the entire round by round show was seen on the screen here exact twelve days after the pictures were taken. Fast work! Fight and sport fans were pleased to have the opportunity to see these pictures before shown in Edmonton and other larger centres in the province.

Evidence is indisputable that most of Canada's rust epidemics started south of the international border and that as barberry eradication is progressing, correspondingly stem rust of wheat will become less serious.

The largest public meeting ever held in Vulcan in recent years, was that addressed by Wm. Aberhart, R. A., of Calgary on June 22, at the Skating Arena. Over 1500 people assembled and listened to interesting and instructive talks on the Douglas System of Economics. Full report in the next issue.

Rev. Pritchard Guest Pastor; J. T. McDonald Lectures "Life of Rev. Geo. McDougall"

Anniversary services were held at the Vulcan United Church on Sunday commemorating the twenty-third year of work in Vulcan. Rev. J. M. Pritchard of the Knox United Church Lethbridge, was the guest pastor at both morning and evening services and delivered sermons in keeping with the event, "Is the Golden Rule Sufficient?" and "The Supreme Sacrifice."

Music, both vocal and instrumental was rendered by the senior choir under the leadership of R. H. Weale and the McPherson sister trio.

On Monday evening an anniversary program was presented and a good sized audience was in attendance. The varied program, including vocal solos orchestra music and a lecture by J. T. McDonald of Calgary, on the life of the Rev. George McDougall. W. D. Allan, chairman for the occasion, announced the numbers and introduced the speaker.

The orchestra, led by Corp. Forsland with the personnel of Miss Beulah Walker, pianist; Corp. Forsland, first violin; C. Kettleston, second violin; J. Dortch, trombone; R. H. Weale, cornet; Miss Dora McPherson, violoncello, opened the program with a march number followed by a selection entitled "Goddess of Liberty." Two more numbers were intermingled with balance of the program.

Solo selections were sung by Miss Amy Tuttle and Mr. W. Walker. Both were called on for encore numbers.

Mr. J. T. McDonald before commencing his lecture complimented the musical talent on their splendid contribution and stated that Vulcan was fortunate in having talent of high calibre.

The speaker gave a vignette of the great pioneer missionary who laid the foundation of Christian citizenship in Western Canada—Rev. Geo. McDougall. He traced his life from his birth at Kingston, Ont. in 1821 till his lamentable death in January 1874, giving the incidents and high lights of the times during which the man lived.

The worded biography was greatly appreciated by the listeners who derived knowledge from the speaker, who is a student of Canadian pioneers.

Following the program refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

Crops Need Rain; Hoppers Increasing

Sixteen days on Wednesday, without a rain in proportions to benefit the crops, from a record June heat wave is the report for Vulcan, and district. A slight rainfall was recorded on Saturday last, but just enough to lay the dust for a short while. During Wednesday evening and early Thursday morning scattered showers were reported all through the district. At the time of writing the sky is clear, and there is no sign of rain clouds. The crop is badly in need of rain; the late sown wheat especially suffering from the hot, dry weather.

Although no real anxiety is being expressed, the grasshopper poison campaign is advancing rapidly and as much as seventeen tons of bait has left the mixing station in the curing rink in one day. The bait has kept the hoppers down but reports of damages have been heard from sections east and south of town. Good results are being obtained and the poison is proving effective in all areas where it has been spread. If the hot weather continues the situation will no doubt become serious.

Material for the mixing of the bait—sawdust, bran, arsenic and molasses—has been shipped in large quantities to Vulcan and drays are busy handling the material.

The grasshopper poison is being distributed free of charge upon application to the secretary-treasurer of the municipality in which the applicant resides. Five hundred pounds is allowed for each 100 acres of land under cultivation.

Instruction for the spreading of the bait and other information may be obtained from the mixing station.

OUR JAZZ WEATHER

So long as Alberta weather continues as it is and always has been, no one can lay claim to being bored. Our weather possesses a vitality, an unexpectedness that makes each new day a gamble. It is not so much a fulfillment as a hope, and it can produce more material for speculation and conversation than any other feature or attribute which this country possesses.

We always have interesting weather, justifying high praise, or bitter condemnation. It is always doing something to the crops, and therefore of major importance. It is absolutely untamed and completely inconsiderate. Hence a high-handed frost, or a devastating hailstorm, or rain or drought at inopportune times. Hence the inexplicable bursts of kindness when all seems lost. Hence the meaningless spells of cruelty.

No one can say with security that there is a good crop, until that crop is actually in the bins. No one can say that a crop will be a failure, until the reapers are actually in the fields. We have seen victory emerge from almost certain loss through a little spell of concentrated kindness on the part of nature. We have seen failure triumph over success in one brief hour of nature's wrath. And no two years nor two seasons have ever moved with the same rhythm.

Our kindly weather is like a flighty but warm-hearted mother. This spring her child lay neglected, uncared for, cold and depressed. Suddenly she arrived—belated but solicitous. She poured her vitality and warmth into her child, and like a miracle, it responded, and blossomed with life and cheer. Then, with her offspring once more restored to normal, she forsook the scene to let everything fend for itself. When life again begins to look desperate, she may return bringing kindly showers or whatever generous gift is most needed at the moment.

Nature has been described as a fickle jade, and nowhere more fickle than in Alberta. She lifts us to heights and casts us to depths. She woos and spurns almost in the same breath. But when each year is bundled up neatly and placed in the files of the past, it is always found that we have not fared badly.

We move in a jazz atmosphere and to jazz time, but always seem to arrive.

ON BANKING COMMITTEE

In discussing the duties and personnel of the Banking Commission for Canada, the Calgary Herald urges that the West should be represented and that that representation should include the more radical Western opinion. The Herald discusses this commission in the following editorial, which is clear cut in its viewpoint:

"According to a statement made by the Canadian prime minister, before sailing for the London conference, the commission will consist of five members. Rumor declares that one will be a financial expert from Great Britain and another a leading banker from the United States. A well known Australian financier has also been suggested.

"It may be wise procedure to select a prominent banking authority from the Mother Country to preside over the inquiry but just why an American should be included is open to question.

"What is needed on the Commission is a representative of radical western opinion on banking. During the recent federal session, Messrs. Coote, Garland and Speakman, all U.F.A. members from Alberta, spoke in season and out of season in favor of the establishment of a central bank in this country. They have made a special study of banking in this country, and whether their views are right or wrong, it would be a great tactical mistake on the part of the Bennett administration if the considerable volume of public opinion which they voice is ignored in the selection of the banking commission. Selection of eastern representatives alone would be a mistake of the first order.

"There has been a suggestion that Premier Brownlee may be asked to be the western representative on the commission. Mr. Brownlee is too busy a man to undertake the task, and moreover he has not made the study of the banking system which the three named federal U.F.A. members can lay claim to. Therefore he would not represent so well the agrarian west's demand for a drastic revision of the present banking system."

ADVANCING PRICES

There are rumors that prices in general are likely to advance and already some lines of goods are higher than they were six months ago. It is difficult however, to see any justification for a boost in prices. Certainly the buying public has no more money at its disposal. The cost of the manufacture of all lines of goods has been scaled down. Raw products are still very low in price. It is possible that the pitiful raise of a few cents in the price of wheat has convinced manufacturers that the time is propitious for a rise, and that the public will come through meekly as usual. But at no time have the prices of manufactured goods been on a par with the prices of primary products. There has been no attempt to establish any relation between the products on which the bulk of the Canadian people depend for their income, and the commodities which they must buy. Wheat could climb to a dollar, and livestock in proportion, and still not be out of line with current prices of manufactured goods.

A rise in the price of secondary products is no assurance that good times are at hand. Wages and incomes generally are still at minimum. Buying power the country over, is still at minimum.

It is argued that advances in prices of manufactures will mean more employment and more money in circulation. How can that be if the goods cannot be sold?

If, as is hoped, primary products do rise steadily in the coming months, manufacturers would be well advised to be content with their old low prices for a time. They would be assured of quicker and larger sales. The majority of wage earners and farm people are of the opinion that at no time have most commodities dropped as low as they should. And any rise at the present time will be regarded as entirely too premature.

PUBLISHERS' TROUBLES

Canadian newspapers have had a hard struggle to exist during the past two years, and many have been compelled to give up the fight. No publisher makes money out of his subscription list and if a subscriber of a weekly newspaper would save every copy he receives during the year and weigh the paper, he would find on investigation that he has paid the publisher just about what the paper cost before it was printed. Now comes an extra burden on the publisher and he will have to pay double the surtax on paper that he formerly paid. It simply means that many papers will be cut down in size. Furthermore, all newspapers have felt most keenly the depression in the loss of foreign advertising, for when large industries are compelled to curtail because there is no special demand, their advertisements are withdrawn, and advertising is the only source of revenue to the newspaper. The hundreds of subscribers who are in arrears can help the publisher by the small amount of their subscription.—Exchange.

BY ITS NEWSPAPER

(From the High River Times)

This week there occurred an incident, interesting at least, to the local press. A business man in a remote city had contemplated purchasing a business in High River. He was in doubt as to the move, and as a precautionary measure decided to subscribe to the High River Times and find out what manner of town this might be. For six months, it seems, he has been one of our subscribers, studying news columns and advertisements, and probabilities and the class of people here. Apparently he was satisfied with what he read through and between the pages of The Times, for he has this week arrived in the town to complete the contemplated deal.

This is one concrete instance of the unsuspected errands which the home town paper may perform, once it leaves the local office. From time to time, new subscribers in distant parts of this country, or other countries, are added to the mailing list, without any local knowledge of who they may be, or why they are interested in the district. But it may be taken for granted that they have a reason, and their interest may eventually develop in something of value to the town.

As has been repeated to the point of monotony, the weekly newspaper is, in a sense, the show window of the district, and the editor is constantly seeking for attractive material with which to dress his show window. He reacts to the news of any little achievement or success on the part of any citizen, as a father reacts to good news from a member of his family. It is something bright, colorful or valuable for the show window. It reflects credit on the whole High River family. And there is no telling whose eye may be attracted. Remember if there is some modest accomplishment to your credit, or the credit of your neighbor, let your newspaper know about it. It will brighten the show window.

News from Ottawa that the Federal Government has made little or no reduction in its holdings of wheat and that it is still involved to the extent of perhaps 140,000,000 bushels will come as a shock to most citizens.

RAINFALL FROM MAY 29th TO JUNE 12th, 1933

Normal rainfall during the above period while, of course, always desirable, yet does not seem to be as important for the development of the wheat plant in the West as are May rains and that occur somewhat later in the season.

In ALBERTA the normal for ten years or more from May 29th to June 12th has been 1.14 inches, whereas this year, between these dates only .70 on the average fell.

TOTAL RAINFALL FROM APRIL 1st TO JUNE 12th, 1933

ALBERTA, with 105 rain gauge stations reporting gave average 3.47 inches, which is 84% (un-weighted) of the normal 4.15, a decidedly poor area being indicated in crop district 5, bounded by Drumheller, Sedalia, Isak and Empress. Weighted for wheat acreage the percentage of the normal is 86.3—this, of course, being a truer picture.

MAP OF CANADA AT CHICAGO FAIR

Largest Map of Canada Ever Made, Features Dominion Exhibit

Visitors to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago will be drawn to the enormous map of Canada, in colors, which forms the background of the Canadian exhibit. This map is the world's largest map of Canada, measuring 30 by 130 feet. It was finished by ten Canadian artists in 14 days. It contains nearly 500 yards of cotton on which 75 pounds of whitening was used as a foundation for the 750 pounds of mineral color to follow.

Late in April it was decided that the Dominion Government, the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways should jointly participate in exhibiting Canadian products and publicizing the country's resources and attractions for tourists, sportsmen and vacationists.

The problem of duplicating the map of Canada on a scale never before attempted, was attacked without delay. To facilitate matters, a five-flat staging was erected on which seven or eight artists worked simultaneously, deepening the color of the Arctic Ocean and far below painting in the railway from Detroit to Chicago or lettering Lake Erie. By this means rapid progress was made and from as far back as he could go the director of the work watched with a critical eye before returning to make comments, issue orders or take a hand in the work himself. A general scale of about two miles to the inch was adopted.

In the floor show as the artists call it, are found dioramas in color representing choice vacation spots in Canada and places in foreign lands served by the two travel systems represented.

Two dioramas of lesser size of Jasper and Banff National Parks will be supported by sixteen smaller but equally beautiful and impressive scenes of Canadian vacation spots, summer camps, sporting activities as well as scenes and ports reached by the companies' liners.

An information booth centrally located in the exhibit space will issue literature and supply information. Four Royal Canadian Mounted Police as well as a competent staff will be in attendance and a reception room has been added for the convenience of visiting notables.

It will be impossible for visitors to pass the Canadian exhibit without being impressed with the dignity and attractiveness of the display. The huge map will be reproduced in miniature on the cover of booklets, visitors may wish to keep. The word "Canada" in huge letters will be surmounted by the Canadian coat of arms in color.

OUTDOOR DISHES CAMPING PARTIES

(By Barbara Brooks)

Unfortunate is he whose nostrils are not familiar with the savory odor of steak sizzling over a camp fire, who does not know the joys of camp meals and camp-dishes. Jaded indoor appetites are revived in the healthy outdoor woods life, and food that does not seem appetizing at home, becomes delicious when prepared and eaten out of doors.

Eggs and Bacon Triangle

Do you know how to fix them that way? Find some flat stone and place them beneath the fire to get hot. When they are heated and out from beneath the fire, lay triangles of bacon on them. Place the three strips of bacon for each triangle close enough together so that when the fat melts, and the egg is broken into it, it will hold together and you can turn it by lifting the bacon. Simple, isn't it?

How About Kabobs?

Kabobs are the campers' name for broiled steak. To make them, you will need $\frac{1}{4}$ pound of round steak and a half of an onion for each person. Ask the market to cut the slices of meat into $1\frac{1}{2}$ " pieces when it is ordered. Cut a green stick, and sharpen it at one end. With it, pierce one of the pieces of meat, then a slice of onion, then a slice of meat and then another piece of onion, and so on, until everything is on the stick. Broil the meat by holding or suspending the stick over the fire. It will probably take about ten minutes to broil over hot coals.

Baked Potatoes

The potatoes are baked by wrapping them in wet leaves or wet brown wrapping paper and burying them under the fire. This takes about an hour, depending upon the size of potato. As soon as the potatoes are done, be sure to break them open so that the steam may escape and the potatoes will be flaky and not soggy.

GARDENS AND TREES MAKE HOME

If you expect to make a fortune farming in the next five years and then leave the farm, it's hardly worth while to plant trees, shrubs, fruit trees and berry plants and bushes.

But if the fortune is not now in sight, and if you expect to follow farming for a living, we can see no sense in living in a house set out on the wind-swept prairie without a tree to protect it, without a garden, and without the fruits which can be grown in this country and which go a long way to make living worth while.

And it would appear that Southern Albertans have pretty well settled themselves to the conviction that they are going to continue to make their living from the land. Reports this spring are that more trees and more gardens than ever before are being planted. It's a fine move, the best we know, for it makes for permanency in farming and permanency in land values. One farmer we know put two rows of caragana across the whole of his farm from north to south this year. Imagine what this country would be if everyone followed suit. But if that's too much, put trees around the house. If you didn't do it this year, prepare the land so you can do it next spring. You can get trees and caragana for nothing from Indian Head or the Government Farm at Oliver, Alta. —Lethbridge Herald.

CAUSES YOUTH MAY FIGHT FOR

All Kinds of Battle Fields For Modern Youth

Speaking at Friends' House, Euston road, to a large gathering of young people, Mr. J.R. Eccles, headmaster of Gresham's School, Holt, delivered an address on "Does Youth Know Best?"

"We have been told," he said, "what youth would not fight for. It was more important to know what youth was prepared to fight for. Would youth fight for purity and honor, for temperance and self-control, for the abolition of slums and poverty, for the curtailment of the facilities for gambling and drinking, for the spread of peace and goodwill among men?"

"Speaking as a schoolmaster of over 30 years' experience, I find the boys of today no less responsive than their predecessors, better informed equally high-principled, just as hard-working, more alive to the great public questions facing the world and more eager to play their part in dealing with them than ever before."

J. P. Morgan admitted before the U.S. Senate that he had paid no income tax for 1931 and 1932. It was disclosed that the assets of the bank are 500 million.

THIS ANGLER SAYS NO ALIBIS HERE

Courtney Ryley Cooper Says When Canada Says There Are Fish, There Are Fish

In a brisk little story in last Saturday's Calgary Herald, Courtney Ryley Cooper, whose sport stories are familiar to all, says that after seven years of wandering, he has at last found a flaw in Canada—she means what she says.

When Canadian resorts advertise "a fisherman's paradise," that is what they mean. There actually are fish. This destroys every hope of an alibi. A fisherman cannot boast of the big trout that got away, because they are here, and they don't get away, if you know your stuff.

A sportsman who has fished all over the world has grown to expect "fishermen's paradises," where the fish were biting last week but not this week, where the water is too hot or too cold, and where there aren't any fighting trout anyway. He doesn't expect the trout to be on hand when he arrives, so Canadian streams violate all traditions.

The writer's "lead" is good. "Seven or eight years ago, when I first began touring Canada as a habit I asked an official to tell me something about the unsavory side of the Dominion. That stumped him.

"Look here," he said finally, "that's unfair. I'm a Canadian. To me there isn't anything wrong with Canada. But we Canadians believe in letting a fellow see for himself. Go out and look the country over—and if you find anything you don't like, write about it. We're no persons up here to conceal anything. Rather, we'd like to find it out, then we can remedy it."

"So, with that goal, I set forth. I've been setting forth ever since, to the extent of thousands upon thousands of miles. I've traipsed from Halifax to Vancouver, and up to Hudson Bay. I've fooled around in the Arctic, where there's a white man to be found about every thousand square miles, and I've spent my time in the centres of population. And all this time, like a hound dog on the trail, I've looked for something to kick about. At last I've found it.

"The whole trouble with the country is that it's too naive. Simply because it promises a fellow good fishing, it thinks that it's got to deliver. No finesse, no tradition—makes a promise about giving a fellow the best fishing in the world, and then is sap enough to go ahead and have the best fishing in the world. Now, take my case."

The deer-stalker on the Scottish moors had become detached from the rest of the party, and was lost in the mist. Hours after he saw a gleam of light and thankfully made for a little cottage. When the Highland shepherd had opened the door the sportsman said: "I'm exceedingly cold. Do you think you could let me have a little whisky?" An agonized expression crossed the Scot's face. "About how little would you be wanting, sir?" he enquired.

SIX POINT PROGRAM FOR WORLD WOES

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and President Roosevelt at their conference in Washington, lined up a world recovery program under six headings:

An increase in the general level of commodity prices.

Re-orientation of commercial policies.

Reduction of tariffs, quotas and exchange restrictions.

World expansion of credit.

Capital expenditures by governmental monetary standard.

Improvement of the status of silver.

Their conversations "showed that our two governments were looking with a like purpose and a close similarity of method" at these objectives.

None of These Gentlemen, Says George Bernard Have Done Anything But Make a Mess of Their Own Countries

George Bernard Shaw makes this comment on the World Conference in London:

"This week there is the World Economic Conference, consisting of an assemblage of gentlemen, not one of whom appears to know anything whatever about economics, even the most elementary kind," Shaw said.

Museum of Fossils

"When you examine their qualifications you will find that they are all gentlemen who have made a deplorable and hopeless mess of national affairs in their own countries and have come to the geological museum—a museum of fossils—in the hope that since they cannot get their own countries out of the mess, other countries may do so.

"In three or four days they have broken down almost hopelessly and the more busy of them are going home."

"Some day we must take things out of their hands and try to save civilization."

DO YOU THINK IT WILL RAIN?

There is a rule that if you cannot speak any good of a person, say nothing at all. If this holds true for the weather, the rule is not being followed. The continuous heat and winds are the major topic of conversation and concern. Although this week has not been so insufferably hot as the week just past, it means only that some districts elsewhere have been catching grief with hail or are being swept with rainstorms. It is almost a month since any rain to speak of has fallen here, and crops which stood up bravely till this week are at last showing the obvious need of moisture. The summer-fallowed land has held out the best, but on high knolls much of the crop shows signs of burning. Grain is entering the shot blade while still very short in stock and this untimely forcing of growth will result in a very light crop unless rain comes within a short time. Pasture also is getting dry and the general outlook is not bright. However, good rainfall would alter prospects greatly.

This drought which is visiting both Canada and United States seems to be a matter which those who urge crop reduction should consider.

Wheat on Wednesday stood at 47 cts. street price is one of the highest points reached in many months.

HIGH RIVER AGAIN LEADS VULCAN 9-1

On Friday, June 16, High River ball players visited Vulcan, winning their contest with a score of 9 to 1. This was practically a repetition of the previous encounter in High River, when the local team won a shut-out of 8-0.

Last Friday's encounter was somewhat one-sided, the high point of which was the base running. High River boys had nine stolen bases to their credit, which tells a story of action and suspense.

Clark opened the scoring in the first inning getting his run on a hit and a double by McCullough. Vulcan came up to bat with Hubka getting their lone run in the second inning. Clark and Guerton ticked off two more in the third, while Blundun and Sharpe each got a run in the sixth. Sharpe scored another in the eighth, and to ninth inning brought in three runs by Clark, Blundun and McCullough.

The story of the game appears in the following features:
